To Whom It May Concern:

International Trade Consortium and I personally am happy to provide a reference for Smith Consulting Group (SCG). SCG is an international trading company, I have worked with for more than 6 years. I've known Billy Smith during this time and find him to be a very professional and respectable businessman in our industry who runs his firm with integrity and skill. We have met in Uruguay and Chile on many occasions in connection with our mutual international consulting and trading interests.

Due to confidentially clauses when dealing with many Governments, I am unable to mention specifics, but to be clear we have worked together on many multi-million dollar deals in Chile and Uruguay. SCG has always been dependable, straightforward and honest. I'm happy to recommend them to anyone seeking international trade consulting services.
